

Inclusiveness

Sub-Concepts Covered: Fairness, Kindness

Kindness in the Classroom lessons teach kindness skills through a step-by step framework of Inspire, Empower, Act, Reflect and Share. Each lesson starts with the 'share' step to reinforce learning from previous lessons. The 'act' piece is woven into the lessons but really takes place in the projects.

The Inclusiveness Unit is our third unit out of the six unit series. The focus in our Inclusiveness Unit is on exploring ways to include others through kindness, regardless of differences. This unit allows students the opportunity to practice the concepts of kindness, respect, and caring through tangible activities that are teacher guided. Lessons are geared towards both past concept application and exploration around what makes each person special, how we can honor each person's uniqueness, and including others that may be different from you.

Unit Objective

Students will:

- Review the concepts of respect and caring.
- Highlight similarities regardless of preconceived notions of differences.
- Explore the difference between fair and equal.
- Understand the relationship between kindness and inclusiveness.

Student Introduction

We have spent the first two units expanding on respect and caring in our classroom as well as in our community. It is now time to take these skills and explore inclusiveness and how we can include others. When we include others in what we are doing and treat them kindly, we are practicing inclusiveness! We will also celebrate what makes each of us special and what makes others special as well. Even though we are different, we can all be included! We will be learning about these main topics:

- What makes each of us special in our own unique way!
- Using kindness to include others every day!
- Practicing cooperation as a method of including others!

Let's start by learning about our special and unique qualities as a class!
